

Second Sunday of Easter:
Sunday of Divine Mercy
April 27, 2014

Sunday Liturgy Guide for the Church of the Poor in the Spirit of the New Evangelization

The Church of the Poor, through the Basic Ecclesial Communities, will be able to face the trials of a new life lived in common with the poor as the place of encounter with the Risen Jesus, by trusting in the Divine Mercy.

On this Second Sunday of Easter, the Divine Mercy Sunday, the Church invites us to trust in the divine benevolence of the heart of Jesus as we face the trials of our Christian life today. Let us continue with our reading and reflection on PCP-II's understanding of our economic and political context and trust in Jesus' Divine Mercy to help us through.

PCP-II says: (26) "Fortunately, not all is darkness. Dissatisfaction with the old order is growing and positive responses are being attempted. We should be especially heartened by the growth of NGOs (non-government organizations) and POs (people organizations) that have sprung up, slowly in the '50s and '60s, more copiously within the past decade, to foster and organize initiatives, among ordinary citizens, to face up to our many grave and interlocking social problems. Their efforts cover a wide range of interests: ecological concerns, health and livelihood projects for the poor, national sovereignty and non-traditional politics, gender equality, protection of the rights of children and the disabled, peacemaking and conflict-resolution, gun-control, human rights – the list is long.

(27) Much of the development we speak of here is going on with little fanfare and slow results, but that it is happening at all is cause for great hope. For it strikes at the root of the inequalities of Philippine society. And in its single-minded intent of empowering the powerless to act for themselves for the good of all (with or without the help of government and the traditionally powerful), it is a concrete putting into practice of two key ideas much stressed in recent papal teaching on social issues: solidarity and love of preference for the poor."

What is remarkable in this contextualization of PCP-II is the total silence on the problems faced by the majority poor of our people: land for the farmers, jobs and just family wages for the workers. Forgetting our majority poor beset with these grave problems is a trial in itself. That is why even in our reading of the human condition, we need to trust in the divine benevolence of the heart of Jesus to help us fathom and see the depth of the lives of our poor! Then we can know them and be effectively in solidarity with them and love them preferentially, from the depth of our hearts! ■

Introduction and Welcome

P: Dear brothers and sisters, let us continue to relish our Easter joy. We do so with trust in the Divine Mercy that flows from the sacred heart of Jesus that loves us with a human heart. It is from the sacred heart of Jesus that we receive mercy and grace, hope and salvation, justice and peace in the everyday trials of our Christian life that seeks to live a life in common with the poor.

Penitential Act

P: Brethren (brothers and sisters), to prepare ourselves to celebrate worthily these great sacred mysteries, let us now acknowledge our sins, and ask God for pardon and strength:

P: I confess...

C: to almighty God...to pray for me to the Lord our God.

P: May almighty God have mercy on us, forgive us our sins, and bring us to everlasting life.

C: Amen.

P: Lord, have mercy.

C: Lord, have mercy.

P: Christ, have mercy.

C: Christ, have mercy.

P: Lord, have mercy.

C: Lord have mercy.

Gloria

Glory to God in the highest
Glory to God in the Highest!

And on earth peace to people of good will. We praise you, we bless you, we adore you, we glorify you, we give you thanks for your great glory, Lord God, heavenly King, O God, Almighty Father. Lord Jesus Christ, Only Begotten Son, Lord God, Lamb of God, Son of the Father, you take away the sins of the world, have mercy on us; you take away the sins of the world, receive our prayer; you are seated at the right hand of the Father, have mercy on us. For you alone are the Holy One, you alone are the Lord, you alone are the Most High, Jesus Christ, with the Holy Spirit, in the glory of God the Father. Amen.

Collect

P: Let us pray: God of everlasting mercy, who in the very recurrence of the paschal feast kindle the faith of the people you have made your own, increase, we pray, the grace you have bestowed, that all may grasp and rightly understand in what font they have been washed, by whose Spirit they have been reborn, by whose Blood they have been redeemed. Through our Lord Jesus Christ your Son, who lives and reigns with you in the unity of the Holy Spirit, one God, forever and ever.

C: Amen.

LITURGY OF THE WORD

First Reading: Acts 2:42-47

L: A reading from the Acts of the Apostles.

They devoted themselves to the teaching of the apostles and to the communal life, to the breaking of bread and to the prayers. Awe came upon everyone, and many wonders and signs were done through the apostles. All who believed were together and had all things in common; they would sell their property and possessions and divide them among all according to each one's need. Every day they devoted themselves to meeting together in the temple area and to breaking bread in their homes. They ate their meals with exultation and sincerity of heart, praising God and enjoying favor with all the people. And every day the Lord added to their number those who were being saved.

L: The Word of the Lord.

C: Thanks be to God.

Commentary on Acts 2:42-47:

This is Luke's dramatic presentation of the impact of the descent of the Holy Spirit and the preaching of the apostles upon the early Christian community. By opening their hearts to one another, the members of the Church began to understand one another even as they spoke in different languages. They converged together in the proclamation of the Word and in the breaking of the bread. They repented and were baptized. Their baptism led them to a new lifestyle in Jesus, the Risen Lord: their devotion to the apostles' teaching, their fellowship, the breaking of the bread and prayers. In the concrete, a new living and saved community in Christ meant: live together in common – one world, one life – through the selling of their property and distributing the proceeds to all according to each one's need. This act of love and justice is rounded up by prayer and the Eucharist together. Their increase in number was due to the presence of the Spirit, the fidelity of each one to Jesus and the life-witness of the early church.

Responsorial Psalm: Ps 118:2-4, 13-15, 22-24

R: (1) Give thanks to the LORD, for he is good, his love is everlasting. or R: Alleluia.

Let the house of Israel say, "His mercy endures forever." Let the house of Aaron say, "His mercy endures forever." Let those who fear the LORD say, "His mercy endures forever."

R: (1) Give thanks to the LORD, for he is good, his love is everlasting. or R: Alleluia.

I was hard pressed and was falling, but the LORD helped me. My strength and my courage is the LORD, and he has been my savior. The joyful shout of victory in the tents of the just:

R: (1) Give thanks to the LORD, for he is good, his love is everlasting. or R:

Alleluia.

The stone which the builders rejected has become the cornerstone. By the LORD has this been done; it is wonderful in our eyes. This is the day the LORD has made; let us be glad and rejoice in it.

R: (1) Give thanks to the LORD, for he is good, his love is everlasting. or R: Alleluia.

Commentary on Ps 118:

Though this is an individual hymn of thanksgiving, the psalm is really composed of two songs. The first is in the first person singular: vv. 1-21; and the second is in the first person plural, vv. 23-27. The transition is v. 22. Vv. 28-29 go back to the individual who repeats the opening verse. On the other hand, it can be said that the psalm has two parts, for another reason: the first part takes place in the tents of the people in Jerusalem (vv. 5-18); the second occurs in the temple (vv. 19-29). The reason for thanksgiving is the individual's experience of God's mercy that has liberated him. But the individual experience is also a community experience. He who had suffered, the stone rejected by the builders, God has made into a cornerstone: a strong foundation of faith, in the temple.

Second Reading: 1Pt 1:3-9

L: A reading from the First Letter of St. Peter.

Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who in his great mercy gave us a new birth to a living hope through the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance that is imperishable, undefiled, and unfading, kept in heaven for you who by the power of God are safeguarded through faith, to a salvation that is ready to be revealed in the final time. In this you rejoice, although now for a little while you may have to suffer through various trials, so that the genuineness of your faith, more precious than gold that is perishable even though tested by fire, may prove to be for praise, glory, and honor at the revelation of Jesus Christ. Although you have not seen him you love him; even though you do not see him now yet believe in him, you rejoice with an indescribable and glorious joy, as you attain the goal of your faith, the salvation of your souls.

L: The Word of the Lord.

C: Thanks be to God.

Commentary on 1Pt 1:3-9:

This is Peter's, or his disciple's, benediction to God: to thank God is to bless Him. This is probably taken from a baptismal hymn that rejoices in the great mercy of God that has given us new life. This new life is lived in hope nourished by the Resurrection. It is safeguarded by faith as it awaits the fullness of salvation in the future. Lived in joy, however, this new life is already being tested today by persecution and suffering because of persecution. But this experience is actually a test of faith: trials strengthen the faith, makes it more genuine for the glory of Jesus. The glowing of faith is this: though we have not seen Christ, yet we love him; though we do not see him, yet we believe in him, with joy until salvation, the goal of believing, is attained.

Alleluia Verse:

Alleluia Verse:

R: Alleluia, alleluia. You believe in me, Thomas, because you have seen me, says the Lord; blessed are they who have not seen me, but still believe! R: Alleluia, alleluia.

Gospel: John 20:19-31

P: The Lord be with you.

C: And with your spirit.

P: A reading from the Holy Gospel according to St. John.

C: Glory to you, O Lord.

On the evening of that first day of the week, when the doors were locked, where the disciples were, for fear of the Jews, Jesus came and stood in their midst and said to them, "Peace be with you." When he had said this, he showed them his hands and his side. The disciples rejoiced when they saw the Lord.

Jesus said to them again, "Peace be with you. As the Father has sent me, so I send you." And when he had said this, he breathed on them and said to them, "Receive the Holy Spirit. Whose sins you forgive are forgiven them, and whose sins you retain are retained."

Thomas, called Didymus, one of the Twelve, was not with them when Jesus came. So the other disciples said to him, "We have seen the Lord." But he said to them, "Unless I see the mark of the nails in his hands and put my finger into the nailmarks and put my hand into his side, I will not believe."

Now a week later his disciples were again inside and Thomas was with them. Jesus came, although the doors were locked, and stood in their midst and said, "Peace be with you." Then he said to Thomas, "Put your finger here and see my hands, and bring your hand and put it into my side, and do not be unbelieving, but believe." Thomas answered and said to him, "My Lord and my God!" Jesus said to him, "Have you come to believe because you have seen me? Blessed are those who have not seen and have believed."

Now, Jesus did many other signs in the presence of his disciples that are not written in this book. But these are written that you may come to believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that through this belief you may have life in his name.

P: The Gospel of the Lord.

C: Praise be to you, O Lord Jesus Christ.

Commentary on John 20:19-31

This is a key story among the apparition narratives in John’s gospel. Jesus takes on a mysterious appearance but reveals himself to his disciples as the same person who had suffered and died, marked by the scars and wounds of his passion and death. Of course, the disciples receive him with joy: he is not dead after all! And then Jesus proceeds to reveal his divinity: he breathes on them, baptizing them with the Holy Spirit. They are now made new: the spirit/breath of God gave them life according to the Old Times, but the spirit they are receiving now is the spirit of him who has risen from the dead! And by making them new, Jesus shares with them the mission that he himself has received from the Father. The promise at the Last Supper is now made real. Thomas’ need for proof that it is indeed Jesus from the dead is now fulfilled. But John says: in the future, encounters with Jesus and sharing of his intimate presence will happen because of the witness of the believers and the written gospel, the Good News, the Word of God in our time!

Profession of Faith

A: I believe in one God, the Father almighty, maker of heaven and earth, of all things visible and invisible. I believe in one Lord Jesus Christ, the Only Begotten Son of God, born of the Father before all ages. God from God, Light from Light, true God from true God, begotten, not made, consubstantial with the Father; through him all things were made. For us men and for our salvation he came down from heaven, and by the Holy Spirit was incarnate of the Virgin Mary, For our sake he was crucified under Pontius Pilate, he suffered death and was buried, and rose again on the third day in accordance with the Scriptures. He ascended into heaven and is seated at the right hand of the Father. He will come again in glory to judge the living and the dead and his kingdom will have no end.

I believe in the Holy Spirit, the Lord, the giver of life, who proceeds from the Father and the Son, who with the Father and the Son is adored and glorified, who has spoken through the prophets. I believe in one, holy, catholic and apostolic Church. I confess one Baptism for the forgiveness of sins and I look forward to the resurrection of the dead and the life of the world to come. Amen.

Prayers of the Faithful:

P: Dear sisters and brothers, let us humbly and confidently raise our voices in prayer to our heavenly Father. For every prayer let our response be: Lord, shower us with your divine mercy.

R: Lord, shower us with your divine mercy.

L: Let us pray for the Church: that being a Church of the Poor spread all over the world, she may continue to proclaim and give witness to a new life lived in common with the poor as the greatest result of Evangelization. Let us pray to the Lord.

R: Lord, shower us with your divine mercy.

L: For our Holy Father, Pope Francis I, for the bishops, priests, deacons, for those in consecrated life and for all those who are entrusted with the care and administration of the church as People of God: that they may continue to give witness to the written word by exhorting the rich to live in solidarity with the poor and to love them with special preference.

Let us pray to the Lord.

R: Lord, shower us with your divine mercy.

L: For world leaders and all those entrusted with governance and administration of the goods of the earth: that they may promote the distribution of land to the landless and the tiller, jobs and just family wage to the worker, the defense of and respect for human rights of all, especially the fulfilment of the quest for justice and indemnification of those whose rights have been violated by the state and its security agents. Let us pray to the Lord.

R: Lord, shower us with your divine mercy.

L: For all of us, inhabitants of the earth and citizens of heaven: that we may live our lives according to the values of the new life lived in common with the poor: loving and just, compassionate and forgiving, generous and attentive to the needs of others, peaceable and ready to share without limits, for the world and its goods are all ours to share. Let us pray to the Lord.

R: Lord, shower us with your divine mercy.

L: For our beloved dead: that in the forgiveness of their sins, they may find eternal rest in the heart of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. Let us pray to the Lord.

R: Lord, shower us with your divine mercy.

L: For our special intentions, in the silence of our hearts. (pause)... Let us pray to the Lord.

R: Lord, shower us with your divine mercy.

P: Lord, these are the prayers we present to you today, Divine Mercy Sunday. We ask you: grant them to us by the benevolence of the heart of your Son. We ask this through same Christ our Lord.

Risen.

R: Amen.
